What students, faculty and employers are saying...

“Since its inception, the symposium has been an effective and efficient recruiting and marketing forum for TD Securities. The format enables us to interact with impressive students from many Atlantic Canadian universities. The event provides us with access to a diverse talent pool from business schools across Atlantic Canada.”

Greg Young
Managing Director
TD Securities

“The futures Atlantic Symposium provided our students with both information about careers in finance and opportunities to access senior finance professionals. It also provided students with practical skill development in networking, presenting to a group and interviewing. Faculty were able to observe students' skills in various situations, to meet with senior professionals in the field and to access current information about various finance designations and programs. Attending the symposium was a great experience for both our senior finance students and faculty and we intend on participating annually.”

“What a wonderful opportunity to meet recruiters and senior industry professionals from Bay Street who offer valuable insight into the investment industry. These leaders gather each year at the futures Atlantic Symposium to meet conference delegates to share their knowledge and answer your questions. Don't miss this opportunity. It is great value for the money!”

“Students from Saint Mary's University who have attended futures Atlantic in the past have been universally positive about the experience. Some have landed jobs as a result of the interviews conducted there, and all have had a great opportunity to sharpen their interview skills, get an inside look at the capital markets, and see what it takes to succeed in a career in that area.”

“The futures Atlantic Symposium was a win-win experience for both employers and students. It provided a venue where students had an opportunity to meet with senior capital markets professionals from various organizations to find out more about the business and career opportunities. Employers had a “one-stop shopping” experience to source talent from the many quality programs offered by the universities in the Maritime provinces.”
